A platform runner in the tradition of Super Ghoulie and Shuriken Block. You play as a little snail named Escar who has to navigate through, and over, lots of obstacles and enemies. Keep an eye out as some of the obstacles are designed in such a way that they can be evil spiky traps. Vulgaris the Vile Man Vulgaris and his henchmen are so evil they want you to give them the will to live. Not the best way to go about it, I know, but they don't take kindly to snails that defy their will to live. Good thing you're so fast. The Plan Vulgaris has kidnapped Shelly, Escar's love interest. Escar has to get to Shelly and return her safely to him before Vulgaris takes her to an even more frightening and unpleasant fate. Control Escar: Jump: Press both buttons simultaneously to jump. Stick to and jump after I've jumped: Press once to jump, then the other to stick to the surface. Speed: Press once to jump and rotate left, twice to jump and rotate right. Toggle Speed: Press once to jump and rotate left, twice to jump and rotate right. The Hero After jumping, Escar sticks to surfaces to move even faster. As Escar moves faster, he can jump higher, and stick to surfaces even longer. Stats Health: Escar starts with 15 health. Jump: When Escar jumps, he gains 1 health. Stick to: While Escar sticks to surfaces, he gains 5 speed. Speed: While Escar jumps, rotates to the left, and sticks to surfaces, he gains 5 speed. Steering: Press once to jump, twice to rotate right, and thrice to rotate left. Escape: Press once to jump, twice to stick to a surface, thrice to rotate right, and once to rotate left. Escar has many abilities, but one of his most useful abilities is the ability to stick to surfaces. It's essential to moving forward at the correct speed, though sticking to surfaces does cause some slowdown. Tips: When sprinting, turn left and right with the controls. I suggest practicing this first. After jumping, you can press the stick to the right to jump when you're not sticking to surfaces. This is useful to cover a wider distance. After sticking to surfaces, jump with Typing description will be available inside the game when it's done. This is not a remake, it is a homage, a reinterpretation of a very old game. A remake would have a different gameplay with more and better controls. In this game, there is no time. You can respawn any time you want and try again. You can also change your direction at any time, as long as you have enough light on you. The controls are as simple as they can get: Left click to move. Right click to jump (or left click again to change direction while in air). Shift button to change light level. The goal of the game is quite simple: "Linger in the light." You can never escape the Dark, but you can escape the Dark Runner. It is a must have for speedrunners and lightpushers. *** If you want to contribute, join the facebook group: *** Download: Mac OS X 10.11+ Ubuntu 14.04+ Linux *** -Natural Night -No torches or batteries. -Room-based gameplay. -Organic day/night cycles. -No maps. -No stamina system. -No checkpoint. -No time limit -No achievements. -No timers. -No flashy -No animations or 3D -No texture oversets -No pixel graphics. -No time system. -No stamina. -No speed system. -No system to increase speed. -No fancy graphics. -No sparkling effect. -No stats. -No money or... Hurtworld is an oldschool survival game. It's simile for Rust, a game that came out after us. Even though it was created by the same developer, we decided to play around with it, add more features to make it more fun and have now the third iteration of the game, Hurtworld Expanded. We built our game on the concept that every civilization went down and the average person survived by doing what they can to get through the darkness. Hurtworld Expanded gives you a new world to explore, new enemies and tools to help you. You can now change direction in midair.

The Defector is a 1945 thriller film directed by Lew Landers, who was married to the screenwriter Hall Bartlett and collaborated in 1944 with her on the screenplay The Thin Man Goes Home. The film was produced by Universal Pictures and stars Don Porter and Gail Patrick. It was distributed by RKO Radio Pictures. Plot Officer Richard Jones (Don Porter) is a policeman who is able to track down his stolen car. He goes to his grandmother (Thelma Todd), who is a retired showgirl, to get her help. Reluctantly she agrees, but she still wants to see Richard. To convince her, she phones her former friend, showgirl Jean Tobyl (Gail Patrick), who she is sure will surely help her. When Richard and his grandmother arrive, she introduces him to Jean, whose second husband, Lt. Joe Barton (Wilfrid Hyde-White), is with them. Despite his personal preferences, Jean agrees to help. Her old friend Lillian Tavernier (Zita Johann) reluctantly agrees to help too. The trio start looking for Richard's car. They eventually come across one of Lillian's former lovers, Commander Chocolat (Victor Varconi), who was a Nazi spy during World War II. He now runs an air base on a remote island. Upon realizing Richard Jones is his son, Lt. Barton attempts to kill Richard, but Jean intervenes. When he threatens to kill her, she chases him away. Meanwhile, Lt. Barton brings his mother (Lillian Barlow) to the island. What Barton doesn't know is that the island is now under the control of Baron d'Oberbach (Carl Esmond), a Nazi war criminal who is threatening to use Jean as a pawn in his plans to overthrow and kill British Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain. Cast Production Written and produced by Hall Bartlett, who worked with Lew Landers on The Thin Man Goes Home, The Defector was first scheduled to be released by Universal in October 1945. It was then rescheduled for release by RKO Radio Pictures in November. In July, the film was moved up to be a fall release. While The Thin Man Goes Home was filmed in the summer of 1944, The Defector was produced that fall. It was filmed on location in Hollywood and Canada, and on an island in the Arron River near Vancouver, British Columbia. It was filmed in two versions: the British
