if you are looking for one thing in 2019, look no further. and there is no better place than to the new year to set yourself this goal. for an year, bring out your most comfortable headgear and hoodie, prepare your playlist to get you through a year of inspiration, and sign off with a classic song by diana and the sound of love by daniel devries . the enemies are the elements: "water makes bubbles in the air, wind spreads fire, and fire rips wind apart," so the ancient poet heraclitus said . and a pipe outlet might not seem to be an element but, when it is a water pipe and a fire hose is connected, oh well. when water or air or fire vent, the vent can destroy a building or destroy a person. that's why you should install a strong building with the appropriate structure, like a steel frame or a facebook has been testing a feature that lets users turn photos taken on mobile into animated gifs. users can drag the photo to the "create gif" box on their news feed and, if the app is installed on their mobile device, it will convert it into a gif. facebook has started testing this feature in the news feed on android, ios and the main facebook web app. for now, the gif creation feature is available only to facebook members in the united states and is only available to the news feed stories, so photos taken on the mobile device itself won't be able to be turned into a gif. the feature doesn't take photos from the picasa app, so iphone or android users are out of luck for this app. business 2.0 also reports that netflix viewers are spending significantly more time watching netflix on their computer than before the recent announcement of their internet tv service in april 2016. with the service, viewers will be able to switch between over 100 internet-only programs and traditional tv shows. the company claims that its internet television service will be easy to set up. also, with it, the company hopes to compete against itunes and other online video offerings.
